Oakland Minister Denies He Has Five Affinities

Another Exhibition of Depravity.

Patrick Calloun seems to lack the perception he has been generally credited with. His presumption that he has rights which Judge Lawlor should protect is fatuous. He utterly mistakes the character of the proceeding to which he is a party. He has already been tried and found guilty by the Call, Bulletin, Spreckels, Heney and Burns, and he is now undergoing the formality of being convicted. Again and again have the Call and Bulletin declared that the statutory provisions governing criminal trials do not apply in his case, that the rules of evidence and judicial procedure are abolished so far as he is concerned, and that he becomes an insolent disturber when he presumes to object to any proceeding or to the character and sufficiency of any evidence offered against him. He has been repeatedly told that he has no right of appeal, and that he will only add to his turpitude by affecting to believe he has. It has been forcibly explained to him that he must not question the credibility of the testimony given by Hon. Big Jim Gallagher, Hon. "Gassy" Kelly, Hon. Ferd Nicholas and Hon. Andy Wilson.

Besides Fremont Older has pointed out a variety of reasons why he has no claim to the benefits of the law and the presumption of innocence usually accorded accused persons. The estimable Older, among other things, charges him with being a "Southern gentleman." He has never denied the damning accusation. How dare he hold up his head and claim the protection of Judge Lawlor with this undisputed charge hanging over him. It is a public offense in Older's eyes to be a gentleman, and Judge Lawlor being a particular crony of the Bulletin editor probably shares his virtuous prejudice against gentlemen. But Calloun has made himself doubly infamous by being a "Southern gentleman." And apparently he is not ashamed of the crime. Naturally Older's moral sense is shocked by this exhibition of total depravity. Moreover, Calloun is a millionaire, and has further shown himself to be a malefactor by defeating an unjust strike which Older was instrumental in calling on the United Railroads.

Also has not Calloun confessed his guilt by refusing to acknowledge and hiring lawyers to defend him? If he were an innocent man he would have long ago admitted bribing the supervisors and gone to San Quentin like an honest, upright citizen. He would thus present a shining contrast to Gallagher, Boston, Wilson and "Gassy" Kelly. But he has not only declared his guilt by denying it, he has shown his contempt for decency by demanding a trial, which everybody, if Fremont Older is to be believed, knows is unnecessary, and insisting that his guilt be proved in the ordinary way in accordance with the Code of Criminal Procedure. An innocent person in his position would be ashamed to resort to such tactics. And it was disgraceful in him to object to fair-minded men firmly convinced that he ought to be convicted sitting on the jury, which proves that he does not want a fair trial and is making a technical defense to the shame of the courts and the dishonor of the crime.

Such effrontery as he displayed in asking Judge Lawlor to protect him in rights which he has over and over again been divested of by Messrs. Spreckels, Older and Heney shows him to be an utterly abandoned person. If he had any respect for himself and his family he would promptly don stripes and go to prison forthwith and turn his railroad over to Spreckels and Melan. Otherwise he is beyond the pale of sympathy and wholly outside the protection of the law.

Mining Bureau Doing Good Work.

State Mineralogist Lewis E. Aubury has initiated two movements in his office which are calculated to be of great benefit to the mineral industries of the State. One of them is designed to drive out of business all fake oil corporations which have been organized and are being operated to take in verdant and unwary investors. That the properties which these unscrupulous promoters are exploiting have no present or prospective value is a matter of no concern to them. The luckless investor who buys their stock parts with his money, which is sure to impoverish him and enrich themselves. This is the sole end which is sought.

Usually, these wild-cat oil enterprises are extensively advertised in Eastern publications in an alluring form to catch the eye of gudgeons. The claims are located in producing oil districts; but to the well-informed they are known to cover barren ground outside the productive oil belt. Derricks are, however, erected on them and well-boring started for the sake of making a showing on which to base the operations in stock which is the sole source of production.

The Legislature at its last session made adequate provision for the State Mining Bureau to enable the State Mineralogist to put a field assistant into the petroleum district whose duty it will be to make a map showing the location of each well, its status and the name and address of the owner. Fake oil companies will be apt to be "smoked out" of business as one of the results of the innovation, while it will at the same time serve as a guide to bonafide prospectors in following the course of the productive oil measures.

Aubury is also aiming to put a stop to the practice of Eastern architects locating in this State or employed to draw plans for structures to be erected here, to name Eastern building materials, such as bricks from Indiana, marble from Vermont, and cement from Europe in their specifications on which contractors make their bids. The practice is unkindly to California products and injures domestic industries in such materials. To offset and minimize this pernicious practice and to better advertise the resources of the State, Aubury will make a special exhibit in the Mining Bureau's mineral museum of all natural and manufactured building materials. It ought to prove of incalculable value to California brick, tile and terra cotta makers, manufacturers of cement and stone and slate quarry owners. No State in the Union contains larger or better deposits of clays from which all kinds of kiln products of the best quality are manufactured; of natural materials for the manufacture of the best so-called Portland or Rosendale cements, and of granite, sandstone, marble and roofing slates than California possesses. When these Eastern and European products are imported here it is like "carrying coals to Newcastle," and their importation is an invasion of a market which legitimately belongs to California industries and those who have embarked their capital in their development and to the army of skilled workers employed in them.

Seismic disturbances continue to multiply and spread over the earth. Within the past year every one of the continents have had them in turn. After the Messina catastrophe a destructive quake shook up Central Asia. Mexico has recently been the scene of severe earthquakes, associated possibly with the eruption of Mount Colima. A few days ago Portugal and Spain were shaken up, and now violent earthquakes are reported in the Cameroon country in German West Africa. The crust of old earth seems to be very uneasy these times.

Inter-Planetary Communication.

The theory that it is possible to open communication with the inhabitants of Mars is wild and unreasonable, even if some astronomers of repute have given voice to it. Professor Pickering, for example, has said that it might be possible, if an electric transmission plant costing $10,000,000 were erected for experimental purposes. A more rational astronomer advises the Texas citizens who have volunteered to furnish the capital needed for the signal station to cling to their money until more conclusive proof than we humans now possess is obtained through the agencies of observation used that Mars is inhabited by intelligent beings.

The first difficulty to overcome in this respect lies in the enormous distance in space between us and Mars when that planet is nearest the earth, estimated at 35,000,000 miles, and no instrument has yet been invented by man powerful enough to determine definitely what are the curious markings figured on its face. If that point is ever lifted out of the realm of theory, an enormous gap will remain to be bridged before the habitation of the planet is settled and a still broader one to determine the order of its inhabitants. Then comes the complex problems to solve as to whether their intelligence, if they possess it, corresponds with our own; whether they are capable of comprehending the meaning of any signal which may be made on earth and make comprehensible response—for that implies a knowledge equal to our own of the forces and elements existing in nature. One thing is certain, Martians, if any exist, are different beings from the human beings on earth, for the atmosphere of the ruddy planet is too tenuous for man.

But the problem of planetary intercommunication is increased when it is considered that as the bright side of Mars is always turned toward earth, while the dark side of the latter is turned most of the time toward Mars, the difficulties of signaling are multiplied. When the earth is presented to the Martians in shadow it is impenetrable to the Martians as the dark side of the moon is to us, and the unlighted side is never displayed to Mars during the Martian night, for the reason that it lies outside the earth's orbit, and is, therefore, as difficult of observation to Martians, assuming they have developed astronomical instruments corresponding with our own, as an observation of the face of Mars is to us in our daytime. We seem to be chasing a will-o-the-wisp or reaching out to the unattainable in our ambitions to establish interplanetary communication.

Enforcing High School Discipline.

The Oakland Board of Education has taken a firm stand on the question of abolishing the high school fraternities, fraternities and secret organizations which have been established and maintained by the students in the past and become so aggressive as to menace the enforcement of discipline. At its last meeting it took steps to enforce the anti-fraternity law passed at the last session of the Legislature, and the resolution it adopted becomes effective on Saturday morning. Summed up, it requires every student in the High School holding membership in any of the taboored organizations to sign a statement renouncing connection with them, and those students who have not joined to sign a pledge not to become a member. Some parents have taken a pride in the affiliation of their children with these societies because of the social opportunities such a relationship afforded them. While the fraternities and secret societies confined themselves to the social objects of their creation they were unobjectionable; but when they undertook to interfere with school discipline they naturally got in trouble and into disrepute with the governing bodies. A strong hand had to be placed on the High School students in Berkeley as the Board of Education is putting on them in this city, for that reason.

The High School students were doubtless influenced by the bad examples which the secret student organizations in the two big universities set when they overstepped the mark and abused privileges granted to them in connection with the carrying out of certain college affairs and attempted to override the faculties and dominate. The Academic Senate at Stanford was forced, in self-defense, to shut down on them.

That High School students have certain inalienable rights is admissible; but those rights do not apply to questions of school discipline. If it did, the High School would be controlled ultimately by the students, instead of by the legitimate governing body. The first and lasting lesson which High School and college students must learn is subordination and obedience to authority. That is the lesson which the Board of Education has been called upon to teach in a way that may irritate, but the students placed themselves in a position where the school directors had no alternative save that adopted by them.

No stronger arraignment was ever formulated against a despot than that which the Turkish National Assembly framed against Abdul Hamid in its question to the head of the Mohammedan Church—the Sheik Ul-Islam—in the following language:

"What becomes of an Imam (the title of the Sultan of Turkey as head of the Orthodox faith) who has destroyed certain holy writings, who has seized property in contravention to the Sheri laws; who has committed cruelties in ordering the assassination and imprisonment of exiles without any justification under the Sheri laws; who has squandered the public money; who, having sworn to govern according to the Sheri law, has violated his oaths; who by gifts of money has provoked internecine, bloodshed and civil war, and who no longer is recognized in the province?"

No wonder the Sheik answered, "He must abdicate or be deposed." There was no other answer that could be honestly given under Moslem law.

The new Sultan of Turkey promises to protect the political liberty of his subjects, but it must not be overlooked that he also pledged himself to the Sheik Ul-Islam to uphold the Mohammedan faith. Religious intolerance is incompatible with civil liberty. It is a cardinal tenet of Islam that unbelievers have no rights the faithful are bound to respect. Being enemies of Allah in the eyes of all true Mohammedans, they are held to be objects of pious execration. Having ascended the throne by ecclesiastical sanction as the successor of the Prophet and the defender of the Moslem faith it is difficult to discern how Mehmed is to rise above the conditions of his sovereignty. Religious freedom is a component of civil liberty. Neither can stand alone if the other be struck down. Foreign Christians in Turkey are tolerated only because they are under the protection of the Christian nations. Christian subjects of the Sultan enjoy no such protection, hence are the victims of outrage, spoliation and periodical massacre. The Christian powers should compel Mehmed to guarantee religious liberty to his Christian subjects, for if he holds to the traditional law of Islam as the successor of the Prophet he must inevitably be opposed to religious toleration.

The cast of characters counts twelve of the more talented girls of the senior class, supplemented by a chorus of thirty voices.

In addition to the sketch a number of charming musical numbers have been arranged. The final rehearsals will be held today and tomorrow. Girl Danced Late, Then Went to Municipal Lodging for Night

NEW YORK—"We don't get her kind down this way very often," said Matron Griffin of the Municipal Lodging-House at the foot of East Twenty-fifth street, today, in telling of the good looking, stylishly dressed girl who timidly wrapped on the door at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

"Will you take care of me for the night?" faltered the visitor. "I know it seems strange that should ask for assistance. My name is Moille Walsh and I live at 95 Oak street, New Rochelle. I stay too long at a dance in West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and missed my train. I didn't want to go to a hotel and a policeman directed me here."

"We can accommodate you," said Matron Griffin "but you'll have to comply with the rules and take a bath before retiring."

The young woman gladly agreed to do this. She left a call for 3.30, saying she wanted to get back home so as not to worry her mother. She was up on time and left after thanking the matron for her kindness.

HAS 52 YEARS TO PAY DEBT

NEW YORK—"If John T. The order was made in accordance with the new garnishee law, which says that a judgment creditor may take 10 per cent of his debtor's salary."

It appeared from the papers that twenty-five years ago Williams and Mrs. Fisk's husband were in a partnership. After her husband died Mrs. Fisk started a suit against Williams for a balance due her husband.

No Late Suppers; No Late Hours, No Taxis; Sleep and Air For the Ozone Club

NEW YORK, April 29.—In the past week there has been a dearth of chit-chat and show girls in Broadway's "robert-palms." The chit-chat and other chatter patrons of the restaurants have been for familiar faces in vain. They were mystified. But the secret got out rather early, Friday morning.

A fortnight ago Richard D. Armand, who has the welfare of the little Ozone Club at heart, noticed that many of them seemed to be ill. With the aid of a fashionable physician who diagnosed the trouble—too many late suppers and taxicabs and not enough fresh air. In the hour the "Ozone Club" had been formed health food for the members, the Misses La Crosse, Harman, Bonclet and Luk.

The young woman began practicing among the opera companies, and in a week had won forty converts. The rules of the organization are strict and include the following:

"Girls are not allowed to dine before the evening performance. This will make you aesthetic and improve your health."

"No member shall remain up later than 2 a.m."

"Every girl shall sleep eight hours. The rooms shall have no fires and the windows must be open."

"Girls shall not sleep on pillows or soft mattresses."

"No hours shall be devoted every day to exercise."

Some of the girls entered into the scheme so enthusiastically that they began sleeping on the roofs of the apartment houses, where they live. Others ate their meals on the fire escapes and in the back yards. Some of them had difficulty in finding suitable out-of-door places to sit so late walking down the streets. Others took to sleeping in the open air as soon as they were put on last week.

The "fresh airies" as they are called, held their first public dinner Sunday night. It was served on the roof of a cheap house in West Thirty-sixth street and was an atmospheric success. Candles furnished the illumination and wind the music. There were speeches, but no hot air. The members of the club is an outfit.

Love Song

We sit together in our soul's high window, dearest,
That looks upon the street of human life,
Within our happy home: without, the world thou fearest;
Within our peace; without, men's angry strife.

Look out! see how strange eyes look here upon us,
How poor they think our dwelling and how cheap!
They creep not of our godlike joys and honors,
The rich, ripe fields of blessings that we reap.
Nay, close the curtain; it is wrong, my sweetest
That they should see the love they do not know,
Our love, the purest, darling, and completest
God ever trusted to our earth below.

Sit here, my love, with all the world behind us;
Sit I and in hand, nor dare to speak a word,
'Tis wronging God to share what He consigned us
With every outcast of the human herd.

So, sit we by the soul's sweet fireside, fairest:
The days go by as light winds kiss the flowers.
They peek through all earth's sweetest and earth's rarest,
A love so sweet, a love so rare as ours.

—Phillips Brooks.

Committee, had a remarkable story to tell of her own experiences when preparing to leave the country. The only resort available through the circuitous country from Isphahan to Teheran was offered to her by the military authorities, and she accepted it to find that it entailed traveling on a gun carriage harnessed six-in-hand, and that for ten days double stages were effected at a hard gallop, while the shelter of the carriage formed her canopy at night.

Dr. Stuart testified to the unflinching courage and kindness of the officers to the traveler placed in their charge and renewed the committee as to the absolute safety of the missionaries during this period of unrest by stating that the mission compound at Isphahan was one of the safest places in the city. In fact, members of the families of officers of the Shah have in the past few months resorted to it as an asylum.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Woman Hold Babies While Their Mothers Drink

LONDON, April 29.—A fortnight's operation of the child's act barring children from saloons has done more than all the previous bans of agitation to bring before the public eye the magnitude of one of the evils it is designed to combat, namely, the presence of young children at all hours of the day and night in saloon bars.

Today, one of the most conspicuous features of London life is the woman who, at certain hours, particularly at night, hangs about the doors of public houses, drinking, with children in their arms or in perambulators.

This, of course, is not seen in the West End or in the better residential quarters, but is universal in the other and far greater portions of London where mediocrity and poverty have developed a new trade in this connection.

Old women assemble at the doors of the public houses and hold babies, while the mothers of them drink inside. The violation of public decency has already reached such a pitch that an outcry for its prevention may be expected soon.

Spring Joys

Long were the winter nights, and long
The shortest days so cold and dim
How easy to forget the song
Of spring when winter closes the year!
But now the choral throngs are here
And joy fills the hearts of men
We turn our thoughts to outdoor cheer
And leave the dreamland and again
Again the slim committee wends
A look of forty thought and pants
With pulse as down the way he fends
The while he sets him to plants
Again the alley back-street rents
Of "perfect" strawberry-cakes," and then
On "perfect" blissful abundance
We hear the German band again

No more shall care becloud the brow
No more shall sorrow bear us down,
We have a lot of pleasures now
To drive away the anxious frown
Though from a charge as though for town,
And boldly while into a ken
The bills for wife's new hat and gown,
We hear the German band again

Lines to an Heiress

I do not want a motor car,
I do not want a yacht;
I do not pine to roam afar
And over Europe trot
I do not seek rare works of art,
Beloved, it is true,
The only object of my heart
Is you.

You!

For when I've got you, don't you see,
These other things will come,
You in the line of fashions,
You've got a tidy sum
For all these luxuries. Till wait
Yacht, travel, motor fun—
Till I shall dwell in blissful state
With you,
You.

You!

Widow Offers Church $200 For a Husband

CHICAGO.—A Methodist church of Chicago which will furnish a pool table for a "comely widow" will receive a reward of $200 from the woman in the case. This announcement was made today by the Rev. Dr. James Rowe, secretary of the City Missionary Association of the church.

"Recently," said Dr. Rowe, "I raised several thousand dollars for a church of widows."

The full reward for a man who will live in an appropriate quarter.

Massachusetts Has a Surplus Of Women

Massachusetts has long been known as the greatest surplus of women of any Union. There are said to be 100,000 spinsters and widows in the state who must look out for themselves. There has been much talk of late for their benefit and a recently prominent business and women of Boston have organized a committee for getting the state purchasing small tracts of land on which women can engage in a pursuit.

The Women's Massachusetts Association intends to begin by cultivating small plots of flowers, herbs, mushrooms, berries, vegetables, squabs, chickens and pigs. Cheap comfortable homes will be built on these plots and necessary implements also will be supplied. A wealthy New York woman stands ready to contribute $300,000 to the project, and a Brooklyn (Mass.) philanthropist has offered to lend his big farm for experiments along this line.

Jilted by Postal Card

RIPON, Wis.—"I have given my heart to another man," wrote pretty Arnie Krantentzler on a postal card, which she sent yesterday to Otto Dorsch in New York. She left for Hamilton, O., where she will marry Marcus Sausch, whom she never saw but became acquainted with through an advertisement for a wife which he placed in a Hungarian newspaper.

Miss Krantentzler, who is 25 years old, arrived in this country last September. She became engaged to Dorsch, who is a sailor. Recently he arrived in New York and wrote her asking if he should come to Ripon or meet her in New York. But in the meantime she had corresponded with Sausch, a young factory hand, who sent her money to go to Hamilton.

A brother-in-law from Hungary and attempted to dissuade her, but without avail.

Voices of Nature

Link! The Mountain Peaks are calling,
Calling me and you.
Oh, you hear their words are falling,
"Peak-a-hoo!"

And the "trees" their songs are flinging
Over the country now,
And these words are gayly singing,
"Bough-wow-wow!"

While the Frog in numbers noble,
From his leafy song,
Sings the Auto-mobile,
"Chug-chug-chug!"

Boy of 65 Left Girl of 62 Waiting at the Altar

NEW YORK, April 29.—What a glib young deceiver of 65, within an hour of the time he was to have given his name to Mary Junker, a splendid lass of 62, lived at No. 82 Bloomfield street in Brooklyn, he was seen leaving the church, thereby breaking the heart of a little girl who had to go and take a lot of furniture as ever.

If the little Frank had but known that he was to be left alone, where the couple had planned to hold hands after a modest trip, it wouldn't have been necessary to drag the innocent into this story. But it was his idea to do who found the bill.

"It wouldn't come half as hard on me," explained Mary, "I hadn't bought that fellow a suit of clothes and a pair of patent shoes. And right at this minute he is probably making love to some other widow with a view to the wardrobe. I hope he never meets a girl in these days."

Members of the German Methodist church at No. 129 Garden street, Hoboken, which was the scene of the wedding, were talking about the disastrous finish to the romance. Both were old women. Through their connection with the church they met, and the mother of them drink inside. The Rev. Mr. Thayer, pastor of the church, was engaged to the wedding on Saturday night.

certificate was filled, but with the exception of the spaces for the signatures. An hour before the event Frank got leave of absence from his bride and promised to return in a few minutes. His watch must have stopped, for he didn't come back. He is still missing.

All Faces Must Not Match the Coiffures

PARIS, April 29.—The hairdressers have hitherto contended themselves for the most part with arranging coiffures. They have now added the art of making faces to match the coiffures.

Under the auspices of the Haidressers' Union of Paris a "competition de coiffure" was held at L'Academie Ecole Francaise de Coiffure in the Boulevard de Strasbourg. The subject set for competition was for the hairdressers to make themselves to represent as lifelike as possible the various rulers and sovereigns of the world.

In the remarkable procession which paraded in the halls of the hairdressing academy were seen more or less successful presentations of King Edward, the Czar the German Emperor, the Emperor Francis Joseph, the Mikado, President Dillieres, King Alfonso, the Emperor Menelik, the Sultan and various other eminent personages. The prize d'honneur, a medal presented by the Prefect of the Seine, was won by M. Monti.

HEART OF A GYPSY

Upon a mottled, tawny leopard-skin
Spread in the sunshine on the dusty ground,
Stood she,—a gypsy girl; and, circled round,
Sat dusky youths who made a merry din
With wild, barbaric drums, while she, within,—
A graceful figure by no garments bound,—
Danced to the tambourine's discordant sound;
And mocked the inebriate's delicious spin.

Outside the ring were grouped some Arab boys,
Who chattered glibly in the golden sun,
And sang when strains of song by fits and starts;
They seemed unconscious of the swelling noise,
Yet he alone was so,—her chosen one:
For all the rest she danced upon their hearts!

She says that on one occasion, pending the marriage action, she allowed the doctor to have the use of her apartment, and to come out in the cold, riding on the electric cars, the result of which was that she contracted chilblains resulting from the exposure. The doctor, on another affair, by the recitation of this circumstance, she does not mean to charge that the doctor intentionally brought about the illness of his patient, but that it was simply an instance of his negligence in the custody and control of the little one respecting the case of which the doctor did not and could not under

She also says that the doctor kept a large number of diaries in which were a little detail and item of expense and with respect to which the doctor applied for a record and that he had to be entered and that these diaries practically lay compose a record of their married life. At the doctor's request Miss Patterson also kept a diary for a considerable period of time and she says that these diaries extending over a period of ten years she finds that in terms of household expense of living setting the table, etc., show that it is not entirely correct to say that she was a miser. When she was married with a child the doctor refused to give her money she did not take and was only by obligation to him; time and comfort leading her to contribute to the family these she might and furthermore a cordial relationship with him she reproached her husband for his parsimonious in this respect he treated it as a matter of absolute indifference.

an investment
Commissioner James P. Edloff believes that such a boat house would not only be a thing of beauty and a joy forever, but would be one of the best investments made by any city. On holidays and weekends thousands of pleasure skippers will come thronging from San Francisco and the vicinity. It is on these days that the boats of the pleasure fleets would be in the city all the way from a dime to a dollar to the full value of real estate.
Funds for such a boat house may be provided for by direct appropriation by city or by popular subscription or both methods. Commissioner Edloff

The matter was reported to the police today by the parents of 10-year-old Sarah Small, 2317 Acton street, who stated that she was accosted when with Florence Elmer, living at Dwight Way and Spaulding street; Elsie Campbell, living at California street and Dwight Way; Zita O'Neil, living at Roosevelt avenue and Dwight Way, Harriett Fuller, living on Eancroft Way, near Spaulding street; Laura Campbell, 1627 1-2 Carlton street; Emily McNamara, 1429 Dwight Way, and Ella Foley, of Spaulding street, near Dwight Way.

This party was welling along M-gee and M-gee's son, when, a neighbor at the corner of Audubon, who had been accosted by a middle aged man, who engaged them in conversation and began to tell them that the little girls were faithful and some of the other girls were in neighboring side, the man following them.

A stranger followed Harriet Fuller down to her home on Bancroft way, telling the young girl until she was almost exhausted. The Fuller family were not at home, and the little girl ran out to a neighbor's, refusing to go home. Two hours later the man was seen in the neighborhood by some women, probably the Fuller home.

Later according to the neighbors, the man was seen to enter the back door of the Fuller house and afterwards discovered missing when searching was discovered missing when Fuller was told it is believed the man was seeking the little girl who all this time was in the great terror with friends in the next back.

that campus is one of the little girls who was decoated two months ago by Dave Richards alias Joseph Street who was given 15 days by Justice of the Peace Edgar. Street is still in jail and the police are at sea as to who his substitute is. The whole neighborhood is up in arms this morning, and a thorough search of the entire southwestern portion of Berkeley is being made.

WHEAT MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO WHEAT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Wheat—No trading; cash, $2.10@2.15.
Barley—Flem; May, $1.50 asked; Dec. $1.47, @ 1.39; cash, $1.02½ @ 1.05.
Corn—Burr; large yellow, $1.70@1.75.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Despite a decline in the price of wheat at Liverpool, the market here opened strong, with prices a lower to be higher. Commission houses at the board of trade here were firm for the July delivery, and a scarcity of corn forced the price of that option to rise from an opening range of $1.08 1/2 to 1.10 1/2. A blizzard and wet weather in the Northwest kept receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth small.

In active general demand for corn, additional rains in the corn belt, and strong opening in that market, prices quantities.

Firm grades in May were made at 71½¢.
The initial buyers here prompted considerable profit taking, which caused a moderate rise.
May selling off to 70½¢.
Wet weather was also a bullish factor, the oats market, crops being quite active and the further away to seedling prices were steady, some 4½¢ up. May being at 70½¢. Later the price eased off to 59½¢.
Provisions were dull and rather incline to be weak.
Prices at top were a shade higher

KISS IS SUBJECT OF DAY'S INQUIRY

Naval Board Hears All About
That Famous Evans-Osburn
Osulation

The story of a Christmas kiss, the Evans-Osburn Christmas kiss, which has enlivened court proceedings and social gossip for the past three months and now menaces the naval career of Lieutenant Franklin Wayne Osburn, one of the participants in the famous salute, was rehearsed, recalled and described during a whole day's proceedings before the board of naval inquiry at Mare Island, yesterday.

From the beginning of the season, Naval Constructor Holden A. Evans, who, as the husband, was merely an innocent bystander, happening by the mere chance to witness the incident, was called to the stand, which position he maintained throughout the day. But, though it is known that Lieutenant Osburn's osulatory process was the subject of question and answer, not a word as to the nature of his narration nor the questioning or cross questioning to which he was subjected by members of the board and Attorney Randolph V. Whiting, representing Osburn, was whispered outside the courtroom. The instructions of the naval department that the proceedings are to be guarded with the utmost secrecy is being followed to the letter.

Was it the Only Kiss?

With the story in general, however, everyone is familiar through its recital before the civil tribunal when the Evans divorce suit was tried. It is said on good authority, however, that much of the naval constructor's testimony and that of other witnesses who will be introduced in his behalf will be directed toward showing that the love-making of Christmas eve which was witnessed was but one of numerous episodes of a similar character carried on over a period of several weeks.

CAN CUSS AND DRINK AND BE A GENTLEMAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 29. — A man may swear and indulge in intoxicating liquors and still be a gentleman, according to Oscar W. Perkins, professor of rhetoric at the University of Minnesota.

Perkins made the statement to his class in sophomore rhetoric. In substantiation of his stand Perkins cited various instances of well known personages who drank and swore, but who nevertheless were worthy of the title of gentleman.

Charles Lamb and Addison were among those named. "Almost every man swears occasionally," he said. "Some people grow every virtuous quality under the name of 'gentleman'."

Annie Rooney and May Scott with Sells-Floto Circus.

A real circus is coming. The reliable Sells-Floto shows consolidated, with every department augmented and additional novelties, rare and interesting new features in the monster menagerie. Special importations in the way of all kinds of new circus acts have been secured, in conjunction with a long string of the pick of American performers.

The Sells-Floto horses are a show all by themselves, and every department has been increased extensively. The new parade is also creating exceptional attention. The $5,000 Armour dapple grays are with Sells-Floto circus.

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Ten persons were injured, five seriously, today when a trolley car ran away on a steep grade on First street, in the Southern Hill section. The car dashed down the hill, jumped the track and was smashed when it struck a trolley pole with sufficient force to break it in two.

END TO DYSPEPSIA

Eat Your Favorite Food Without Any Fear of Distress.

Don't think you have catarrh of the stomach just because you are distressed after eating or have sour eructations.

The simplest kind of food will cause belching of gas, heaviness, distension and biliousness if the stomach isn't in good condition.

It's a very easy matter to get the stomach right and if you'll just swallow one or two little Mi-o-na tablets before, with or after meals, you'll discover that all stomach agony is unnecessary.

Mi-o-na is a great big help to a tired, worn-out or overworked stomach. It quickly puts it into such perfect condition that the most hearty meal can be eaten and digested with pleasure.

And please bear in mind that while Mi-o-na is guaranteed to quickly furnish all the ordinary stomach ills, it is also guaranteed to cure indigestion, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach, or money back.

It matters not how long standing is the disease, Mi-o-na will cure it if you give it a chance. If it doesn't you can have your money back.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets only costs 50 cents at druggists, and it will only take 24 hours for the most skeptical to demonstrate that they are the greatest stomach tonic and blood-maker in the world. Get rid of stomach distress now and prevent graver diseases later on. Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Booth's Laxative Pills: A joyous, new and better laxative. One trial proves it; 25 cents at all druggists.

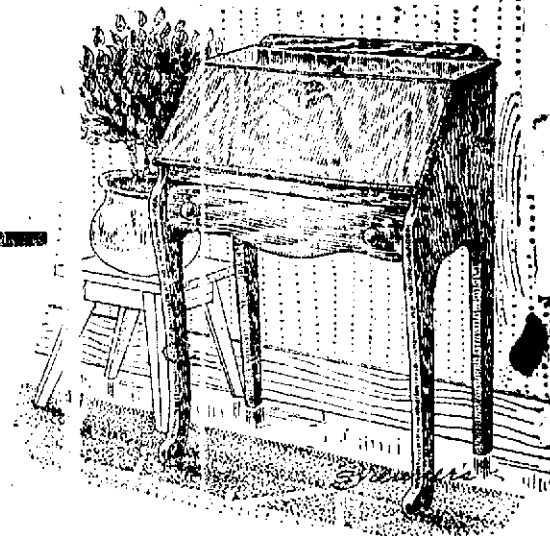

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO LINGERING STAGE KISS

CHICAGO, April 29.—A lingering kiss, the finale of the last act of the comedy opera now playing at the Thineva theater, has robbed the company of its prima donna.

Georgia Crane, who repeatedly has sung through three acts to fall into the arms of the prince at the close of the third, will quit the cast soon. She is booked to sail from New York on May 10, with her husband, Alphonse B. Thibault, a broker, for a six months' nomadic tour in Europe. Thibault doesn't like the kiss, and is said to have insisted that his wife terminate her engagement in Chicago.

VETERANS PLAN MEMORIAL DAY

Meet May 1st to Discuss Arrangements For the Commemorative Ceremonies

A meeting for the discussion of preliminary plans for the decoration of the graves of the soldiers of the United States army, will be held in the Council Chambers at the City Hall on the evening of May first, by the Grand Army veterans.

Each of the posts in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley have been asked to send at least three delegates.

It is probable that the march to the cemetery, which has always been a feature of the day's ceremonies in past years, will be eliminated this year, because of the great age of some of the veterans. Instead it is planned to have the body meet at the grave of the burial ground, proceeding from there in formal rank.

The usual program will be given with only slight variations, which will not be announced until after the meeting Saturday night. The Alameda county posts which will be represented are: Appomattox, Porter and Lyon posts of Oakland; Lookout Mountain Post of Berkeley and the Joe Hooker Post of Alameda.

COUNTY'S CASH TODAY COUNTS $1,094,695.58

The County Auditor issued a statement of the condition of the county treasury this morning, which shows that the accounts are correct and that the amount of money on hand today is $1,094,695.58.

EXCURSION TO UKIAH

One going on the popular excursion to Ukiah via the Northwest-Pacenic on Sunday, May 2d, will have over four hours during which time visitors may be taken to Volby Springs, the Asylum, Fish Hatchery and other points of interest. The ride at this time of the year is most delightful owing to the fruit trees being in full blossom and the field covered with wild flowers. Each ticket insures a seat, as no more tickets are sold than will provide for the excursion. The fare for the round trip is $2.50 and tickets are now on sale at 374 Market street and ferry. Leaving time from San Francisco will be 8:45 a. m. and from Ukiah on the return 5 p. m.

YOSEMITE IN A DAY

On April 15 the Southern Pacific Company inaugurated a new daily train to Yosemite valley, leaving First and Broadway, Oakland, at 11:35 p. m., arriving next day at noon at California. The train is most desirable for the reason that it gives the opportunity of entering the sleeper at Oakland pier and working up next morning in the valley. Round-trip tickets are on sale. The train also gives good service to Livermore, Merced, Modesto and Fresno, carrying sleeper through to latter city. For further information apply to Southern Pacific Company, corner Thirteenth and Franklin streets, Oakland, or S. P. agents.
